

The Business of Fraud

This collaborative educational program will outline and analyze a case study involving fraud and its consequences. Guided by a panel of experienced professionals in forensic accounting, private investigation and business law, we'll discuss:

- How the fraud is detected and quantified
- How assets are traced and ultimately recovered
- How to prevent fraud through the use of internal controls and identification of red flags

This program is structured for business and family law, probate litigators, corporate counsel and business owners. MCLE credit will be provided 2 through VWM Analytics. Light food and refreshments will be served.
